Cold after cold, cough after cough. One cold no sooner cured than another one comes. It's a bad habit, this taking-cold habit. What you want is a medicine that will break up this habit, heal inflamed membranes, strengthen weak tissues. J. C. Ayer Co. knows all about it. Then follow his advice.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

Mrs. Fluke will soon be here in her latest success, "Rommersholm." In which she has just closed a brilliant engagement at the Lyric Theatre, New York. Every one always looks forward to Mrs. Fluke's engagements with the keenest interest, and is especially eager to see her this year on account of the talk her production of "Rommersholm" has created. One of our Harbinger Club Fluke has shown that his policy is to have the best players obtainable associated with Mrs. Fluke. The cast of "Rommersholm" includes Bruce MacLean, Geo. Arliss, Walter Mallish, Albert Brumby, etc.

These illustrations, these attributes were accepted by the public and effective nothing of the company. In every condition of reality, not an imitation. There are very few such plays. If there are any, so perfectly and so clearly humanly natural in their progress, not by act, or so coherent and absorbingly interesting in the story, now before the public, or that have been brought forward within the past score of years. Plays again and again have been successful and held their popularity for a season because of some

W. S. Wescott, of Nebraska, is the only one of the seventy original life members of the Great County Agricultural Society who is living. The society was organized in 1857. J. H. Galusha, who was buried today, was secretary of the first meeting. The city put a force of men to work today to shovel a driveway through half a mile of snow between the city and the cemetery. There has been no travel over the road since the heavy snow storm, the farmers avoiding the high drifts by cutting through the fields. The snow in some places is eight and ten feet high.

A rural drama, "Uncle Hubbs," was presented by an amateur cast under the auspices of St. Victor's society and an audience that packed Turner hall enjoyed the performance with special satisfaction. Miss Minnie Eberly, who has had some professional experience, directed the production. There were ten in the cast, the others being Misses Helen Sullivan and Barbara Barry, and the Messrs. Glen Boyd, Harry Keegan, Alex. Metz, Arthur Collettine, Paul Hodges, Ed. Clark, Roy Collettine, and Will Clark. The funeral of J. H. Galusha will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The will of the late Felix C. Bennett, which has been filed for probate, discloses an estate valued at about $5,000. The property is given to the widow and after her death to be divided equally between the two children, Dr. C. Bennett of this city, and Mrs. Edwin E. King of Janesville.

Deceased to wed: Harry Keegan and Helen Regoz, of Monroe; Wallace Stanley and Mozelle Blackford, both of Exeter.

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE HERE NOW CURED OF INDIGESTION.

Some people think they have indigestion, others Catarrh of the Stomach, others Nervousness, Cancer or Dyspepsia, etc. Call it this if you will, but the real name for your trouble is Fermentation of what you eat, with only partial digestion. Everything you eat turns to either Acid, Stomach gas or Stomach poison, which weakens the digestive organs, causing a lack of gastric juice. Your food sours, is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, burning sensation, a feeling of vomiting, heartburn, water brush and tenderness in the pit of the stomach, shiny tongue, bad taste in the mouth, constipation, nausea, belching of gas, dizziness, sick headache, intestinal cramping, mental depression and many other common symptoms.

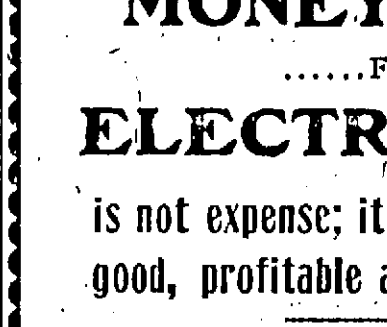

You can cure all this by not eating, by not putting any food in your stomach to ferment; but how about the nourishment needed to sustain your bodily strength? If you are a stomach sufferer, either man or woman, young or old, whether you call it indigestion or any other name, go now to your best pharmacy and give 50 cents for a box of Papo's Diapasein.

These 22-grain Triangles are pleasant tasting and as harmless as candy, and will digest 3,000 grains of any kind of food you eat.

Every possible kind of Stomach trouble is readily cured by Diapasein, which takes right hold of the food in your stomach and digests it alone, without the help of the stomach, just as if your stomach wasn't there.

Your stomach will be as good as any after you stop this fermentation of everything you eat—this formation of Stomach Gas. After a few days' use of Diapasein your Stomach will again be in good working order, your intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will have no use for laxatives or liver regulators.

Papo's Diapasein is not a secret concoction or patent medicine, as the complete formula is plainly printed on each case. It is a prescription built upon a thoroughly scientific principle, which will prove true to any stomach sufferer within five minutes after taking the first Triangle.

Is the result of modern ideas. Costs less. Does better work. You must try it to see. Get a can on trial.

The baking will be vastly better, lighter and tastier or we pay for the can.

TURKS ABUSE ARMENIANS. Declare Fifty Anarchists and Sentence Eight to Death.

Tiflis, Feb. 22.—News was received here Friday that the Turks raided the frontier village of Carina, in the Province of Van, Adirale Turkey, and captured 51 Armenians whom they accused of being members of a revolutionary society. Court-martial was formed on the spot and after a speedy trial eight of the men were sentenced to death and 43 to life imprisonment.

The dispatch says that great excitement prevails in the villages in the vicinity of Carina and that it is feared the populations will rise and interfere with the carrying out of the sentence. The Turks have taken advantage of the situation to push their re-enforcement nearer the frontier.

Aid for Unemployed. Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 22.—Sixteen unemployed Pittsburgers, having families, left here Friday night for Monroe, La., where they will be given a farm, home, tools and seed and an opportunity to buy the land they cultivate. The same inducements are being offered to 40 other families.

Collision Proves Fatal. Cleveland, O., Feb. 22.—One man was killed and seven persons injured in a collision Friday night between a Baltimore & Ohio railway freight train and a Lake Shore railway passenger train at Elvira, 30 miles west.

Howlers Face Starvation. Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 22.—The real suffering from the flood in southern Indiana has begun and in some cases starvation is near.

Enduring, profitable advertising is built upon the foundation of truth and fairness.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

Someone said, a long time ago, that death and taxes were the only two things that a man could bank on with absolute certainty. There is no question about the former, and the latter is a safe proposition, where there is anything to tax.

Outside of these experiences, which never disappoint, life however is a good deal of a lottery, as many men have found to their sorrow during the past few months.

The man who invests in mining schemes or fake adventures, is possessed of the gambling spirit, and is entitled to but little sympathy when the venture fails, but when engaged in legitimate business he has a right to expect success, and especially where intelligent effort is invested.

But this does not always follow. Sometimes the elements conspire against him and the work of years is wiped out in a night.

This experience has been so often repeated in the orange-growing district of the south that men expect it.

The trees, today from the gulf, 300 miles north, are loaded with yellow fruit and the slender branches bend under the burden, but a temperature of 40 last night, at the extreme southern point, means frost and damage through much of the district, and is an annual reminder of the lottery of fruit culture in a section of the country which for many years was below the frost line.

These uncertain conditions have driven enterprising Americans across the gulf, and a Philadelphia syndicate is now developing a fruit ranch of several thousand acres in the interior of the island of Cuba, 280 miles south of Havana.

The secretary of the company said, the other day, that oranges were so cheap that it hardly paid to pick them and that they would not enlarge their grove of 1,000 acres, but pay more attention to grapefruit.

He also said that the United Fruit company, which controls the banana trade to large extent, was driving out competition by low prices, and that it counted a bunch for the best fruit prevented profitable growing except under the most favorable conditions.

A gentleman just over from Honduras says that Cuba is a back number, on tropical fruits, and that every vessel loaded for New Orleans or Tampa, leaves in their warehouses enough bananas, too ripe to ship, to supply the city, and anyone who desires, is welcome to carry them away without charge, while the choicest oranges sell at the rate of 40 for 25 cents of native money, equivalent to about 12 cents in American coin.

With this kind of competition it will be readily seen that the southern fruit-grower has more of a lottery than frost to contend with.

If the Standard Oil company was responsible for this competition, there would be much criticism about the "grinding monopoly," and some sort of regulation would be urgently demanded, but Cuba and Honduras are nature's competitors, and as every body knows cheap fruit, the American product will hang on the trees, while the grower will be forced to admit that the survival of the fittest, is the only law which governs.

It is simply the mail order and department store business on a larger scale, backed by nature's resources and an inexhaustible supply, for the industry is yet in its infancy.

Cuba is only a step from our doors, while Honduras is reached by steam, in five days from New Orleans, and this time will be reduced half when the new line is opened from Tampa next spring.

These two undeveloped countries are capable of supplying the world with tropical fruit for the next century, and at present with which even California will find it difficult to compete, for neither irrigation nor fertilizers are required, and the bearing is practically perpetual.

But frost and climate are not the only things which contribute to the chances of life and render existence so largely a lottery.

The panic which struck the country so suddenly last fall, left in its wake a long list of sufferers, whose plans were demoralized and business destroyed.

The army of hungry and destitute people, unable to provide the necessities of life because of enforced idleness, is evidence of the loss which came to capital which furnished employment, and which, through no fault of its own, was unable to continue.

The men who speculated on Wall street were largely engaged in a game of chance, and their losses were pocketed without complaint, but the manufacturer, the railroad, and the commercial world are not speculators. Neither is the great rank and file of labor, which contributes so largely to success in every department.

Yet in every department the investor of both capital and labor has discovered that life is a lottery, and that the best laid plans may be demolished in a night.

The causes which led to this upheaval have been discussed, and opinions have differed widely. Enough to know that the upheaval came, but more important than the cause is the remedy, which will most speedily restore prosperity, and place it on a more permanent basis.

The nation is in the throes of a national campaign, and so much of public interest is involved that it is safe to assume that the spirit of unrest and uncertainty, so prevalent, will continue, until the political destiny of the next four years is determined.

The administration of President Roosevelt has been a remarkable administration, and if it had closed six months ago, he would have retired from the White House with popularly practically untarnished.

The rugged honesty and splendid courage of the man, combined with his strong personality, have won for him a warm place in the hearts of the American people, but when men like ex-Governor Black of New York, the man who placed him in nomination four years ago, turn against him, it is safe to assume that he has at least been indelicate.

Mr. Black represents an army of critics composed of men who feel that the President, while entitled to full credit for all the good accomplished, has passed the zenith of his usefulness as president and that the nation will feel relieved when he retires.

This feeling is general on the part of capital employed in industrial and transportation channels, and while the men represented are in the minority, they represent much that is of vital import to public welfare.

Their interests are so extensive that they can not afford to be subjected to chances that could be avoided, and so, all over the country, from this class of men comes the cry, "Give us a rest."

It may sound like a far cry, but it is very significant, and unless the republican party takes warning, and profits by the appeal, it may suffer defeat and humiliation.

The President favors Taft, as his successor, and the masses favor the President, because they idolize him as the friend of the common people. Taft is between two fires, and in no position to speak for himself, but the fact is widely recognized that it is Taft against the field, with chances largely in his favor.

Men who knew him well do not hesitate to endorse him, for they believe him to combine with popularity, sound common sense and conservative judgment.

The nation has had about all it can endure of an administration lottery, and certainly can not afford to take chances on Bryan. Taft is the logical candidate and under his leadership the country will regain confidence and renewed prosperity.

DISPUTES TRUTH OF PROVERB.

One Man Who Disbelieves That Laughter Aids Digestion.

"I don't know whether nature fitted me out with a different sort of digestive apparatus from the average man," remarked a magazine reader, who looked up from the printed page.

"Here is a writer who sets it down as a solemn fact that laughter and good cheer are enemies of dyspepsia." Now whenever I go to a dinner where a lot of good stories are told or amusing speeches made and I laugh more than usual the result for me is an aggravated attack of indigestion. More than this, and although I never drink anything in the way of intoxicants, I am certain to have an attack of hiccoughs as a result of laughing, which always annoys my friends who are aware of my non-drinking habits. I present the anomalous picture of perhaps being the only man at the table who has not taken a drink of any kind and yet my actions are those of a man who had decidedly too much liquor. You can't make me believe that old saw about laughter being good for digestion, in spite of the solemn gentleman who wrote this article."

CHIEF TO PROTEST INVASION OF JAP?

BOTH LONDON AND PARIS HEAR OF POSSIBLE ACTION.

DISPUTE CHINESE TRADE

As Soon as American Fleet Reaches 'Prisco, Says French Editor, Note Will Be Dispatched to the Powers.

London, Feb. 22.—Considerable interest has been aroused in official and commercial circles by the reports sent over here by the American correspondents of certain London papers that the United States is about to confer with the powers with the view of protesting against the policy adopted by Japan in Manchuria, it being contended that Japan's course has given her own merchants advantages over other traders in that part of China.

Nothing is known here officially regarding this proposed protest, and the foreign office doubts the reliability of the press reports. Some complaints have been received from Englishmen trading in Manchuria, and in some isolated cases it has been shown that British commerce in that territory has suffered, but on the whole the official view is that it would be difficult to establish the fact that Japan has not observed the policy of the open door.

England Made Uncomfortable.

With regard to the cancellation of the contract held by a British firm for the extension of the Hsin-Min-Tsun-Fukien railroad, the foreign office has advised the contractors that the case is one in which Great Britain cannot interfere and that it is for the sole consideration of Japan and China.

When the contract was cancelled Sir John M. Jordan, the British minister to China, was instructed to approach the Chinese government in the matter, but as soon as he learned that China had agreed with Japan not to construct any road which would compete with the South Manchurian road, and Japan held that this projected road would compete, the matter was dropped. The contractors interested are influential and the question will be raised in the house of commons.

Paris Hears of Protest.

Paris, Feb. 22.—Appropos of the recent stories in the European press concerning the open door in Manchuria, Stephane Lauzanne, editor of the Matin, who is at present in New York, telegraphs his paper that he learns on the highest authority that, as a consequence of official reports that have reached Washington confirming the violation by Japan of the agreement concerning the open door in Manchuria, President Roosevelt intends to dispatch a note of protest to the powers accompanied by a request that they join with the United States in remanding Japan of her engagements. M. Lauzanne adds that this note will be sent as soon as the American fleet arrives at San Francisco, provided Japan, in the meantime does not change her attitude.

Governor Is Installed.

San Juan, Feb. 22.—Gov. Rogelio H. Post, Secretary William P. Willoughby, Treasurer S. D. Grömer and Commissioner of Education Edwin Dexter took the oath of office at the government house Friday, Chief Justice Quiñones officiating. There were present prominent citizens, officers of the army and navy and many members of the house of delegates.

French Painter Dead.

Paris, Feb. 22.—Charles Brun, the French painter, whose picture "Impressionist Arabes" forms part of the Rockefeller collection, died in this city Friday.

Record "Dinna Ken."

An Englishman, an Irishman and a Scotchman were walking arm in arm through the streets of Glasgow recently, when they came to a gasometer. The Irishman said to the Englishman: "What is that thing called?" The Englishman said: "I don't know. Ask our friend Sandy." The Irishman, turning to the Scotchman, said: "What is that thing called?" "I dinna ken," replied the Scotchman. "He jabbers," replied the Irishman, "if that is a dinna ken, it's the biggest dinna ken I ever seen in all me life."

A Woman's Age.

How seldom it seems to be realized that all discussions on the delicate subject of feminine age are really the outcome of affection. "Those who are so fortunate as to be in the secret with women who really look 20, but could count twice as many summers, do not find that they are in the least disposed to 'talk ages,' but women, on the other hand, who are indelibly stamped as of uncertain years never tire of angling for compliments by barefaced allusions to their antiquity.

The Lady's Pictorial.

When Do We Dream?

There has been much discussion as to whether one dreams only on falling to sleep and during the act of waking up or whether dreams take place at any time during sleep. While not definitely determined as yet, the evidence seems to be rather in favor of the view that one may dream at any time during the night, or the whole night through. Dreaming is common to perfectly healthy persons, and in itself is no evidence of disorder.—Dr. Frederick Peterson, in Harper's Magazine.

FORM MONSTER SALOON MOVE.

Whole Nation to Be "Coveted" by Anti-Prohibition Federation.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Battle is to be offered prohibition in every city, town and county of the United States through the medium of a vast national federation, with executive headquarters in Chicago, and composed of every association connected directly or indirectly with the liquor trade. This was the formal announcement made by John A. McDermott, manager of the organization, bureau of the project. Arrangements for the liquor interests and allied trades and societies to join hands in a stupendous campaign against prohibition have been under way for several months, but it has not been felt that the time was ripe for a public announcement of what, it is declared, will be the most remarkable fight yet undertaken in this country by a single industry. The general plans have now been formulated, however, and accordingly have been made public.

BRYAN TALKS TO 10,000.

Springfield (Ill.) Reception by Democrats Proves Rousing.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 22.—Ten thousand people crowded the state arsenal Friday and heard William J. Bryan discuss the political issues of the day. The meeting was held under the auspices of the State Federation of Bryan clubs which was organized Friday afternoon in this city. Adlai E. Stevenson of Bloomington was the presiding officer. The trusts and the relation of the republican party toward them and the present financial stringency and the gold standard and republican monetary policies were the principal subjects discussed by Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan arrived in the city from Jacksonville and was met at the Washburn station by 2,000 enthusiastic Democrats. He held a reception.

Beyond His Powers.

An interesting statement by Thackeray was once made to the late Prof. Masson: "Dye know," he said, that though I can describe an Irishman perfectly, I never could describe a Scotchman." I reminded him of Mr. Blinn. "Oh, he said, that's not what I mean; that's a mere facsimile of a man I know; a mere description from life. But what I mean is I couldn't invent a Scotchman."

Care of the Eyes.

Good sight is among the greatest blessings of life, and it behooves women for their own sake to take good care of their eyes. When you have nothing to do, when you are simply resting, close your eyes and let them rest alone. As long as the eyes are open they are at work to a greater or less extent, and oculars will tell you that the moisture of the closed lids is good for them.

Wise Advice.

If duty becomes laborious, do it more frequently; if doubts disturb and torture, face them with more earnest thought and deeper study; if love becomes a source of care and pain, love more nobly and more tenderly.—Westcott.

All Festivals Barred.

In the early days of the Commonwealth, when the Puritan broom was yet very new, the authorities in English towns went so far as to prohibit all joyous celebrations, and the error was sent through the towns announcing the formal prohibition of festivals.

Make Your Own Luck

There may be such things in the world as luck and chance, but wise men never take a risk on them. They make their own luck and get their own chance. If you sit down and wait till something comes your way it is probably that something will go the other way and you can sit there as long as you please.

WASHINGTON PARTY AT CUT-OFF CITY

Evansville, Feb. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spencer entertained the members of the Good Times Club at their home last evening. The rooms were appropriately decorated with flags in honor of Washington's birthday and the tables were also ornamented with small flags and floral center pieces, while the favors were miniature hatchets. The guests were seated in costumes, the designs of which dated back to Washington's time, one lady being attired in a dress which was made over fifty years ago.

The "Brooklyn Farm" given in Mrs. Spencer's opera house last evening, under the auspices of the Beaver Hunters of Stoughton, was, as competent judges all agree, one of the very best plays ever given here by amateur talent. It was a four-act comedy with forty people in the cast and many of the players would have been a credit to the best companies on the road.

Miss Mary Vaughan of Lansing, Minnesota, is here for a two weeks' visit with Miss Ethel Frost and other friends.

Miss Olive Brandon will leave this evening for an over Sunday visit at her home in Harvard.

Mr. and Mrs. Achens have returned to their home in Union Grove after spending several days in this city as guests of the Powles relatives.

The Wetmore bowling team of Janesville met defeat in our little city last evening, the home team winning by thirty-six pins. Evansville scored 3438 and Janesville 2422. The Wetmore team was accompanied by a large number of rooters and the game proved very exciting, especially to ward the club.

Charles Smith is here from North Dakota for a two weeks' visit with relatives.

EDGERTON SCHOOL TO HAVE CONTEST

Annual Declamatory Contest of the Edgerton High School on Next Wednesday Evening.

Edgerton, Feb. 21.—The Irish Senator will be presented tonight at the opera house by James McCabo and Mazie Trumbull.

The men of the card club will entertain the club at the home of Mrs. C. B. Parman on Friday evening.

Last Saturday Mr. Joseph Spitz was given a surprise party by many of his friends who came to help him celebrate his sixtieth birthday.

The store of Conn & Schmidt was closed on Friday during the taking of inventory previous to the transfer of the stock which has been purchased by Harkitt Bros.

The high school declamatory contest will be held in Fulton Memorial hall in Library building on Wednesday evening, Feb. 26th. The following is the program:

The Ladies' Fraternal quartette, under the management of Geo. Bates, gave a concert at the I. O. O. F. hall Wednesday evening in which the talent and artistic ability of the several members of the company were abundantly proven. At the close of the entertainment roller skating was enjoyed till midnight by many of our young people.

A. S. Witzke, who has been in the machinery and implement business for the past several years, sold his interest to Arthur Haberman and Frank Copelin. We wish them success in their new undertaking.

Many of our M. E. ladies are busy preparing for the bazaar which is to be held Saturday.

Word was received from Janesville Monday of the death of Mrs. Benjamin Smith. The body will be brought here for burial Wednesday noon. The interment will be at Mt. Vernon cemetery.

Walter McElwain is entertaining the girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Montgomery of Illinois were pleasant visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Stephens Monday and Tuesday. The ladies are sisters.

Mrs. Ed. Stabler of Brodhead attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Savina Vanderbilt here last Wednesday.

Rev. Catchpole of Janesville held services at the Baptist church Sunday.

Many of the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of our school are planning on taking the diploma examinations which will be given Feb. 20 and 21.

Ross Dunwiddie of Janesville is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Dunwiddie.

A Washington program is being prepared by the pupils of Miss Fitzgerald's room, which will be given Friday afternoon. Judging from the past programs something very good is being looked for.

Many people of this community were surprised to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Savina Vanderbilt, which occurred at her home Monday evening, Feb. 16. She had suffered with the grip for a short time. Although her condition was not thought serious until Saturday she had an attack of heart failure and from this she grew worse till she passed away. Mrs. Vanderbilt was nearly seventy-five years of age. She was born in Ohio Feb. 21, 1823. She was married in 1857 to John E. Vanderbilt, who served in the civil war. She was the mother of six children, five of whom are left to mourn her loss. She was a loving and devoted mother. The funeral services were held at the Baptist church Thursday, Feb. 13. Rev. Foster of Brodhead officiated. The interment was at the Mount Vernon cemetery.

MUSICIANS OF TENDER YEARS.

Many "Youthful Prodigies" in the World of Melody.

Like so many of the world's great composers, Sir Edward Elgar was a "youthful prodigy" of exceptional gifts, as was proved by a recent performance of a suite composed by him at the immature age of 12. But even Sir Edward was probably not as precocious as one of his English predecessors, Samuel Wesley, who in his eighth year heard a regimental band play a march which he had composed for it.

At 11 Francis Schubert had already placed several songs, string quartets and piano pieces to his credit. Handel's first attempts at composition were made at eight, and Vieuxtemps, who began to scrape the strings of a tiny fiddle at two, is said to have been even more precocious. Sir Charles Hallé was only four years old when he played in public a sonata expressly composed for him; Liszt was a public performer at nine, Chopin and Rubinstein at eight, Lady Halle and Joachim at seven, and at five Mozart composed a piece of music almost too difficult for his father to play.

Importance of Thoroughness.

Thoroughness in workmanship, care in the execution of every task undertaken, as if it were the acceptance of a trust which it would be a breach of faith not to discharge well, is a form of duty so momentous that if it were to die out from the feeling and practice of a people all reforms of institutions would be helpless to create national prosperity and national happiness.—George Eliot.

SOCIETY LEADER IS ASPHYXIATED

MRS. W. P. BURDEN OF NEW YORK FOUND DEAD.

SENSATION IS CREATED

Woman Was Daughter of O. H. P. Belmont—Coroner Decides That Death Was Accidental—Household in Confusion.

New York, Feb. 22.—Mrs. William Proffitt Burden, who was Natalie Rives, daughter of O. H. P. Belmont, and a society favorite in New York, Newport and Washington, was found dead in bed at her fifth avenue home Friday. Death, the coroner decided, was accidental and due to gas poisoning.

A disconnected gas tube, which had led from a chandelier to a drop light, so placed that Mrs. Burden read while propped up in bed, had permitted a flow of gas that filled the room and escaping into the hall, finally attracted the attention of the servants.

Household in Confusion.

Mrs. Burden was 22 years of age and since her marriage on April 17, 1907, she and her husband had occupied the home of the latter's father, the late James A. Burden, at 908 Fifth avenue.

The discovery of her death threw the household into confusion and when the facts became generally known created a sensation in the social set to which the Burdens belong.

Mrs. Burden had spent the night in another part of the home and learned of her wife's death from the servants.

Mr. Burden noticed that a light was burning late at night in his wife's room and passing the door called out: "Good night," Mrs. Burden responded: "Good night," in a tone that indicated that she was in her usual health and spirits.

Daughter of Oliver Belmont.

Mrs. Burden was the daughter of the late Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, who was Miss Sally Whiting, and who secured a divorce some time after her daughter was born. She retained custody of the child and afterward married George L. Rives, at one time corporation counsel of New York.

Following the divorce of her mother and the adoption by Mr. Rives, the daughter took the name of her mother's second husband and has always been known as Natalie Rives.

William P. Burden is a nephew of I. Townsend Burden and has a large interest in the Burden Iron works at Troy. Mrs. Burden, as Natalie Rives, was one of the most popular of the younger women in society.

Health Breaks Down.

Her health broke down in the summer of 1906 and she spent some time in a sanatorium at Lakewood. In the fall she returned to society, but the strain broke her down again and she was compelled to return to Lakewood. Although she improved under the care of the doctors and nurses she did not entirely recover her health.

During her stay in Lakewood her engagement to Mr. Burden was announced. A brilliant church wedding was planned, but the health of the bride-to-be remained precarious. Finally a quiet marriage ceremony was decided upon. It was held at the house that young Mrs. Burden had been suffering for some time from a slight attack of the grip.

POLICE NIP DEMONSTRATIONS.

Precautions Are Taken to Avert Disturbances in Rome.

Rome, Feb. 22.—Urgent precautions were taken by the authorities Friday to check intended demonstrations in the vicinity of the chamber of deputies by adherents of members of the extreme parties who, in the recent elections in the chamber, have urged the abolition of all religious teachings in primary schools. When the demonstrators arrived they found a cord of soldiers and police thrown around the building and they were kept at a safe distance. Inside the chamber troops were stationed to quell any disturbance that might arise. In driving back the crowd in the street the police were compelled to arrest several of the most unruly demonstrators.

Session in a Deadlock.

Marysville, O., Feb. 22.—The eighth district congressional convention called to name a candidate to succeed Congressman Ralph Cole, adjourned sine die Friday evening without having made nomination. There had been 1,411 ballots taken and the 1,012th was being called when the motion to adjourn was made. The final ballot was: Cole, 41; Miller, 37; Jewell, 31; Willis, 37; Owens, 32; Cookes, 25.

Count and Anna Must Pay.

Paris, Feb. 22.—The court of appeals has confirmed the judgment of the lower court ordering Count Boni de Castellane and Madame Anna Gould, who secured a divorce from the count last year, jointly to pay to Vera Noulloff, an opera singer, the sum of $24,000 for certain jewels the count purchased from her prior to the divorce.

Eastern Season May 7.

Boston, Feb. 22.—The date for the Democratic state convention, which is to select delegates at large to the national convention, was fixed Friday for May 7 by the state Democratic executive committee. The district convention will be held between May 7 and May 17.

DUMA HITS AT TERRORISM

RUSSIAN BODY, FOLLOWING RIOTS, TAKES STRONG ACTION.

First Two Sessions Refused to Be Committed on Desires, But Latest Meeting Is Decided In Move.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 22.—The duma Friday night adopted a resolution condemning terrorism by a big majority, a notable part of which was made up of Constitutional Democrats, who in the first two dumas reportedly refused to be committed to a condemnation. The Constitutional Democrats' formula expressed its disapproval of methods of violence, whether they were employed by the government or against the government, and the attempt of the monarchists to commit the duma to a sweeping vilification of revolution failed of success, the reactionary speeches calling out notable utterances from the Octoberists reminding the members that the duma itself was a revolutionary product.

Baron Du Mendon, Octoberist and second vice-president of the duma, said revolution was a "historical process for leading the autonomy to a constitution. The revolutionists, he declared, used criminal means to reach worthy ends, but that this was paralleled by the government's defense of authority by irregular methods, which transgressed the law. The duma's principal task now, he said, was to teach the government, from the highest to the lowest members of it, proper respect for the law.

M. Pokrovsky, Constitutional Democrat, protested that the Russian revolution had not been carried out by thieves and cut throats, but by the united people of the city, great masses of the peasantry and a majority of the educated classes. If the policemen and gendarmes had suffered, the Russian people had suffered a hundredfold greater from strikes, punitive expeditions and administrative terror, all for the lofty purpose of bringing on a reign of law by a representative government.

The frustration in this city of a terrorist plot and the arrest on the streets of no less than 50 men and women for alleged complicity was followed Friday by the capture in suburban towns, of several other persons implicated in the abortive attempt at assassination, who were gathered in jail as they were trying to escape. The police believe they have made the most important and telling move against the terrorists that has been engineered in several years.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS STRIKE.

St. Cloud (Minn.) Boys and Girls Sign Strong Petition.

St. Cloud, Minn., Feb. 22.—All of the students of St. Cloud high school walked out Friday owing to the action of the school board in demanding the resignation of Principal Machoney. Every student had signed a petition asking the board to retain Prof. Machoney. Superintendent A. M. Palmer has incurred the displeasure of the pupils, who assert that in his opposition to the principal he has interfered with the good government of the school.

The school board of that town held a special meeting Friday afternoon and decided that unless the high school students who walked out returned to school Monday, they shall be expelled.

SCANT TROUBLE AT LISBON.

Paris Dispatch Says Great Uneasiness Prevails at Capital.

Paris, Feb. 22.—A special dispatch received from Lisbon says that the greatest uneasiness prevails there. The palace has been surrounded by troops, the entire garrison is confined to barracks and ball cartridges have been issued to the men.

Dispatches from Lisbon during the past few days have dwelt upon rumors of a palace and barracks plot to establish a military dictatorship, a revival of "francism" and increased revolutionary agitation among the republicans. The air, it was stated, was full of rumors of plots and counter plots and exchange showed a downward tendency.

Night Riders Suspected.

Carlisle, Ky., Feb. 22.—A tobacco barn belonging to Auburn Smoot, a farmer and independent tobacco buyer or living near Upper Blue Licks, was burned Friday. Smoot recently purchased several crops and sold them at Marysville. Night riders are believed to have set fire to the barn.

Dies in Wreck.

Fort Dodge, Ia., Feb. 22.—A broken rail on the Minneapolis & St. Louis road a few miles south of this city caused a switch engine to plunge down an embankment Friday. Switchman Scott was instantly killed and Engineer Charles Snook and three others were badly injured.

Five Hurt in Wreck.

Thomasville, Ga., Feb. 22.—Five persons were injured by the derailment of a passenger train on the Albany branch of the Atlantic coast line near here late Friday. The most seriously injured are Conductor Durant and S. J. Rachael and J. H. Black of Thomasville.

THE GIANT SPIDER CRAB FROM JAPAN.

This fine specimen of the largest of all the crustaceans, the giant spider crab, which measured somewhat over 12 feet between the tips of its outstretched claws, has recently been placed on exhibition at the American Museum of Natural History in New York by the department of invertebrate zoology. This animal is known to occur to a depth of over 2000 feet in the seas off the coast of Japan.

THE MYSTERY

By STEWART EDWARD WHITE
And SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS

COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY McCURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

To the worth of this story there are two substantial tributes—first, that it was run as a serial by the London Sphere, a publication noted for its discrimination in the selection of serials and which rarely uses an American story; second, that "The Mystery" was one of the "good sellers" of 1907. This is a story of mystery and adventure on new lines. The style is as graphic and forceful as the "copy" of a skillful reporter of an important news event. The part of the hero unfolds gradually until he stands revealed as the rarest combination of whimsical humor and cool courage ever presented, perhaps, in fiction. The narrative, which conveys the impression of reality, not fiction, is swift and alluring, holding the interest of the reader as with hooks of steel.

CHAPTER I.

THE late afternoon sky flaunted its splendor of blue and gold like a banner over the Pacific, across whose depths the trade wind droned in measured cadence. On the ocean's wide expanse a hulk wallowed sluggishly, the forgotten relic of a once brave and slightly sick, possibly the sphinx of some untold ocean tragedy, she lay black and forbidding in the ordered procession of waves. Half a mile to the east of the derelict hovered a ship's cutter, the turn of her crew's heads speaking expectancy. As far again beyond, the United States cruiser Wolverine outlined her severe and trim silhouette against the horizon. In all the spread of wave and sky no other thing was visible. For this was one of the desert parts of the Pacific, 200 miles north of the steamship route from Yokohama to Honolulu, 500 miles from the nearest land, Gardner Island, and more than 700 northwest of the Hawaiian group.

On the cruiser's quarter deck the officers lined the starboard rail. Their interest was focused on the derelict. "Looks like a heavy job," said Ives, one of the junior lieutenants. "These flunkies that lie with deck almost awash will stand more hammering than a mud fort."

"What they'd let us put some six inch shells into her," said Billy Edwards, the ensign, a vivacious expression on his big, round, cheerful face. "I'd like to see what they would do."

"Nothing but waste a few hundred dollars of your Uncle Sam's money," observed Carter, the officer of the deck. "It takes placed charges inside and out for that kind of work."

"Harnett is the man for her then," said Ives. "He's no economist when it comes to getting results. There she goes!"

Without any particular haste, as it seemed to the watchers, the hulk was shouldered out of the water as by some hidden leviathan. Its outlines melted into a black, outshowering mist, and from that mist leaped a giant. Up, up, he towered, tossed, whirling arms a hundred feet a-brace, shivering and dissolved into a wide-spread catenae. The water below was lashed into fury, in the midst of which a mighty death agony bent back the troubled waves of the trade wind. Only then did the muffled double boom of the explosion reach the ears of the spectators, presently to be followed by a whiplashing, swift skimming wavelet that swept irresistibly across the big surges and lapped the ship's side, as for a message that the work was done.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily. When unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Mrs. W. Johnson, of 127 Pearl St., Janesville, Wis., says:

"For a long time I had a severe pain in my back that must have been due to some disorder of the kidneys. It was nothing constantly and became so severe at times that I was almost prostrated. Numerous remedies that I tried, failed to help me and finally I began using Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at The People's Drug Store. After using this remedy for a short time I found a complete cure, and the trouble has not returned."

(the explosion, the spy hied open sea fish of the warm waters, had succumbed to the force of the shock. Of the intended victim there was no sign save a few fragments of wood bobbing in a swirl of water.

When Harnett, the ordnance officer in charge of the destruction, returned to the ship Carter complimented him. "Good clean job, Harnett. She was a tough customer too."

"What was she?" asked Ives. "The Caroline Lamp, three masted schooner. Any one know about her?" Ives turned to the ship's surgeon, Tredon, a grizzled and brief spoken veteran, who had at his fingers' tips all the lore of all the waters under the reign of the moon.

"What does the information bureau of the seven seas know about it?"

"Lost three years ago—spring of 1901—got into lee hold off the tip of the Aleutians. None of the crew froze. Others got ashore. Part of survivors accounted for. Others not. Say they've turned native. Don't know myself."

"Not as far as many another derelict has wandered in her time, son," said Harnett.

The talk washed back and forth across the hulk of classic sea mysteries, new and old; of the City of Boston, which went down with all hands, leaving for record only a melancholy scrawl on a bit of board to meet the wandering eyes of a fisherman on the far Cornish coast; of the Great Queensland, which set out with 600 souls aboard, bound by a route unknown to a trade and; of the Narbonne, with her silent and empty lifeboats alone left, drifting about the open sea, to hint at the story of her fate; of the Huronian, which ten years later, on the same day and date and hailing from the same port as the Narbonne, went out into the void, leaving no trace; of Newfoundland captain who sailed, roaring with drink, under the arches of cathedral bergs, only to be imprisoned, buried and embalmied in the one icy embrace; of craft assailed by the terrible one stroke lightning clouds of the Indian ocean, found days after, atone blind, with their crews maddly muttering at useless sheets, while the officers claved the compass and shrouds; of burnings and piercings, of pest ships and slave ships and ships mad for want of water, of whirling earthquake waves and mysterious sensations, drawing irresistibly against wind and steam power upon unknown currents; of about hulks deserted in panic, although sound and seaworthy, and of others so swiftly dragged down that there was no time for any to save himself, and of a hundred other strange, stirring and pitiful ventures such as make up the inevitable peril and inextinguishable romance of the ocean. In a pause Billy Edwards said musingly:

"Well, there was the Laughing Lass."

"How did you happen to hit on her?" asked Harnett quickly.

"Why not, sir? It naturally came into my head. She was last seen somewhere about this part of the world, wasn't she?" After a moment's hesitation he added, "From something I heard ashore I judge we've a commission to keep a watch out for her as well as to destroy derelicts."

"What about the Laughing Lass?" asked McGuire, the paymaster, a New Englander, who had been in the service but a short time.

"Good Lord, don't you remember the Laughing Lass mystery and the disappearance of Dr. Schermerhorn?"

"Karl Augustus Schermerhorn, the man whose experiments to identify telepathy with the Marconi wireless waves made such a furor in the papers?"

"Oh, that was only a byproduct of his mind! He was an original investigator in every line of physics and chemistry, besides most of the natural sciences," said Harnett. "The government is particularly interested in him because of his contributions to aerial photography."

"And he was lost with the Laughing Lass?"

"Nobody knows," said Edwards. "He left San Francisco two years ago on a hundred foot schooner with an assistant, a big brass bound chest and a ragnamuffin crew. A newspaper man named Slade, who dropped out of the world about the same time, is supposed to have gone along too. Their schooner was last sighted about 450 miles northeast of Oahu in good shape and bound westward. That's all the record of her that there is."

"Was that Ralph Slade?" asked Harnett.

"Yes. He was a free lance writer and artist."

"I knew him well," said Harnett. "He was in our mess in the Philippine campaign on the North Dakota. War correspondent then. It's strange that I never identified him before with the Slade of the Laughing Lass."

"What was the object of the voyage?" asked Ives.

"They were supposed to be after buried treasure," said Harnett.

"I've always thought it more likely that Dr. Schermerhorn was on a scientific expedition," said Edwards.

"I knew the old boy, and he wasn't the sort to care for treasure, buried or unburied."

"Three minutes later the captain was on the bridge. The great ship had swung, and they were speeding direct for the phenomenon. But within a few minutes the light had died out."

"Another sea mystery to add to our list," said Billy Edwards. "Did any one ever see a show like that before?"

"What do you think, Doc?"

"Humph!" granted the veteran. "Now to me, Volcanic, maybe."

MAJOR-GENERAL HOWARD.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 21.—Major General Oliver O. Howard, who is named as lieutenant-general on the retired list of the army in the bill passed by the United States Senate, has been a retired major-general since November 8, 1901. He is the only officer living who commanded an army in the civil war and he has received the thanks of congress for meritorious services. Born at Leeds, Mo., in 1829, General Howard was graduated from Bowdoin in College and West Point. He served in the Seminole campaign in Florida and was in many of the great battles of the civil war. His greatest work, perhaps, was done in command of the freedmen's bureau, 1865 to 1871.

Serious, Indeed!

To the principal of a school for poor boys in London the father of one of the lads wrote the following note in explanation of his son's absence from school: "Sir: Please excuse John for being away, as he has been very bad with information on the inside."

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. J. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. These men have removed his medicines from among secret and doubtful remedies, and made them Remedies of Known Composition.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are such excellent ones that he is not afraid to submit them to the public scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver, biliousness and all catarrhal diseases, wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small card is placed in the wrapper, containing the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. J. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral matter or other poisonous or injurious agents, and that they are made from native medicinal roots of great value also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, overworked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed long years ago by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their women. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "squaw-weed." Our knowledge of the uses of a few of our most valuable and medicinal plants was gained from the Indians. As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a sure and rapid remedy for regulating all the woman's functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, retroversion and retroversion, preventing painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

FATHER OF COUNTRY IS HONORED TODAY

Cities All Over the Country Close Stores and Observe Birthday of Washington.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 22.—Washington's birthday was observed by the University of Pennsylvania with the customary university day exercises at the Academy of Music, the conferring of honorary degrees upon public men being part of the celebration. Several thousand students in cap and gown marched from Horticultural Hall to the Academy of Music to participate in the exercises.

The oration of the day was delivered by Hon. Joseph H. Choate. Those who received the honorary degree of doctor of laws in addition to Mr. Choate were Governor Edwin S. Stuart of Pennsylvania, Hon. Charles E. Rice, president of the Superior Court of the State; Grover K. Gilbert, of the United States Geological Survey, and Miss Cecelia Bonny, the distinguished American artist.

Holiday in New York.
New York, Feb. 22.—While there was no official celebration, today was generally observed as a holiday. In New York and there was a very generous display of bunting in honor of the first President. The banks, courts and other public institutions were closed, and there was little business transacted in the retail district. The survivors of the volunteer fire department held their annual parade and the customary receptions and exercises were held under the auspices of the various patriotic societies.

Veterans Reunion.
Boston, Mass., Feb. 22.—Reunions of army veterans, meetings of patriotic societies and other events were included in the observance today of Washington's birthday in this city. The holiday was quite generally observed in all the larger cities of New England.

Exercises in Virginia.
Richmond, Va., Feb. 22.—Washington's birthday was observed in Richmond today by the customary suspension of business and the closing of the banks. The Daughters of the American Revolution and the Sons of the Revolution, the Society of the Cincinnati and other patriotic organizations held their usual exercises and numerous teas were given in honor of the day.

Masonic Celebration.
Fredericksburg, Va., Feb. 22.—The anniversary of the birth of George Washington was celebrated in an appropriate manner today by the Masonic Lodge, No. 4, in which lodge Washington was made a Mason. The memorial exercises were followed by a banquet attended by the lodge members and their ladies.

Have Banquet.
Portland, Me., Feb. 22.—The Crovee Club of this city, a number of a custom inaugurated a following of years ago, will observe Washington's birthday with an elaborate banquet tonight. The scheduled speakers include Senator Taylor of Tennessee, Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, President M. W. Stryker of Hamilton College, and Rear Admiral Joseph H. Coghlan, retired.

"REDS" HALED INTO COURT

WOMAN ANARCHIST CHARGED WITH INCITING RIOT.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 22.—The demonstration on Broad street by more than 1,000 unemployed foreigners which ended in a serious clash with the police, was followed Friday by numerous arrests.

Chief among those taken into custody was Voltaire de Cloyre, a professional anarchist, who addressed a meeting of men which preceded their march to the city hall where they said they intended to ask Mayor Royburn for work. Hyman Weinberg, David Cohen and Henry Grant were others arrested. Miss De Cloyre was given a hearing and remanded in $2,500 bail on a charge of inciting a riot. The alleged leaders in the demonstration on Broad street arrested, were also held in bail on charges of assault and battery with intent to kill and inciting to riot, while nine others were held in $500 bail on charges of inciting to riot.

Voltaire de Cloyre is responsible for the statement that the meeting which ended with the march on the city hall was held under the Italian and Jewish anarchist groups, but investigation shows that political workers in the foreign settlements had much to do with the movement. It appears that before election last Tuesday the political workers in the foreign settlement promised the unemployed men that if they voted certain tickets the city government would see that they were put to work on the streets and under city contractors in such manner as to help them through the hard times. While the anarchist speakers were talking of the remedies for business stagnation at the meeting preceding the march on the city hall, the workers, or unemployed, many of whom were not anarchists, bolted the meeting to see if the city authorities intended to make good the promises. This started the parade.

George F. LaCroix, Who Received A Carnegie Medal For Rescuing An 8-Year-Old Boy

The following is a personal account by George F. LaCroix from an interview secured for this paper by our special correspondent.

"I was born January 4, 1873, in Hatfield, Mass. Am a broom-maker by trade, but a manufacturer at present. On January 27, 1906, while at work in my father's broom factory I heard a boy was drowning in Jerry's Pond, which is near the factory. I hurried to the place and saw Ernest J. Polner, a boy 8 years old, in the water about 75 feet from the shore. He had broken through the thin ice while playing hockey all alone. I had been sick for a week and had just returned to work that morning, so did not think my condition would allow me to perform the rescue, and tried to induce a young man standing by to try to rescue the boy. He started but returned. Mrs. Polner was standing near and she appealed to some one to get her boy out. I could stand there no longer and slid out on the ice until I broke through near Arthur Polner, a cousin of Ernest's who had started out to try to save him, but being unable to swim he did not succeed, but took hold of me by the neck and we went under twice before I was able to shake him off. I then continued to make my way towards the drowning boy. Some one pushed a small board to me, which I caught and pushed to Ernest. After breaking one leg between me I started to swim for shore, when I saw a ladder being pushed out. On taking hold of the ladder I saw Arthur Polner's hand above water, his body being under. I pushed the ladder toward him, which he took hold of, and both grasping the ladder, we were drawn to shore, Ernest having kept hold of one end of a small board and I the other.

"The boys recovered at once. I had a relapse and was kept in my room for another week."

INTERESTING CONGRESSIONAL CHARACTERS.

CONGRESSMAN HENRY H. BINGHAM.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—Next to "Uncle Joe" himself, who has served 17 terms all told in congress, by far the most experienced member of the lower house is the well known Henry H. Bingham of the First Pennsylvania district. Congressman Bingham has been in the lower house as a republican for 45 continuous terms, having occupied his seat from the 4th day of March, 1873, continuously to date. This is a remarkable record and one which is seldom given to any man to attain.

Congressman Bingham has just passed his 65th birthday. His early study of law was interrupted by the civil war, through which he fought in the Union army. He was wounded at the battle of Gettysburg at Spotsylvania Court House, and in the battle of Farmville, Va. He was mustered out of service as a brigadier-general after receiving a medal of honor for special gallantry on the field of battle. He was delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention at Philadelphia in 1872, and has sat in practically in every national convention since, thus acquiring a record for service in conventions second only to his record for service in the house. He was first elected to the 48th congress and has succeeded himself ever since. His district includes six wards of the city of Philadelphia, and the hold he has upon his constituents is suggested by the fact that in the last election he received three times as many votes as his nearest competitor.

Give Them Titles?
By granting titles of nobility to American men we might stop the flow of good American money into the coffers of titled foreigners who marry American girls, but the remedy would be worse than the disease.

NO ORCHESTRA FOR ROSMERSHOLM PLAY

Mrs. Flske Holds That Music Seriously Mays Effects of Ibsen's Great Drama—Actress Was Here 20 Years Ago.

That Mrs. Flske and the Manhattan company which Chicago critics, by unanimous voice, have recognized as the greatest assemblage of English-speaking actresses appearing in support of any star anywhere in the world today, will be fittingly received in Janesville on the night of Tuesday, March 3, seems assured. If the $500 advance sale at the box office this morning may be taken as any indication, As Minnie Maddern, Mrs. Flske last appeared in Janesville twenty years ago in "Charles" and "In Spite of All," and William Faversham was then the youngest star in the country, having taken the leading part in the plays at the age of fourteen.

Philip Jacques, her advance manager, was a visitor at the Gazette office this morning. Among other things he said: "No orchestra is used in the presentation of these serious dramas. Mrs. Flske adopted this European idea in the presentation of 'Hedda Gabler' and the Madison Square and Helicon theatres in New York have permanently adopted the reform. For the claim is made that it is a reform and an important one. No one can gainsay the fact that the dignity of a performance of this character is seriously disturbed when the curtain goes down on a very dramatic climax and the orchestra, the very next moment, strikes up 'The Merry Widow' or some other irrelevant music."

"Mrs. Flske returned to the stage a few years ago in Ibsen's 'A Doll's House' and made such a success of it that she has been interpreting Ibsen roles ever since. These plays are not presented as curiosities, but as strong and vital dramas. In 'Rosmersholm' she has attained the greatest success of her career, as the profound impression she and her company have made in Chicago will testify. The company comes here direct from New York. It is not the company of a season, but an organization that has been kept intact for several years and will be for many years to come. All but one of the support are English by birth. "Last season Mrs. Flske played two long engagements in New York and traveled 25,000 miles, from Boston to San Francisco and from Los Angeles to Edmonton, the northernmost terminal of the Canadian Pacific railroad—a record that has never been equaled, I believe, in America."

BROADHEAD.

Broadhead, Feb. 22.—Mr. Wally Lewis of Evansville was here yesterday on business. He has made arrangements to engage in farming on the Phillips Kilbuck, Sr., farm on Jordan Prairie and will take possession about March 15. Broadhead people will be glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Lewis back to Broadhead after an absence of some years.

Word has been received here that Mr. Carl Donnelly is sick at the hospital in Watonsburg with diphtheria. He is now convalescing.

Mr. E. P. Warren of Albany was calling on Broadhead friends Friday.

Mr. Joe Dopen was a passenger to Madison Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Chas. Elbert of Juda spent Friday in the city the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Penger.

Mr. Wm. Valhardt is enhancing the interior of his pool hall by the application of new wall paper.

Mrs. Abbie S. Burnell who spoke in the Congregational church last evening was greeted by a fair sized audience which listened to a splendid portrayal of "Life in India."

Mrs. Nettie Hahn entertained a few lady friends on Thursday evening at her home.

There was a children's party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Clark on Thursday evening by some of the school teachers. A merry time is reported.

Mrs. Edith Trumble entertained a small company of friends Thursday evening for her sister, Mrs. Anna Hartman of Marshfield, who left yesterday for her home after an extended visit here. The evening was spent playing cards, and dainty refreshments were served. The evening was one of pleasure.

The Knights of Pythias had one of the best times on Thursday evening they ever had. Initiation, speeches by the visiting members, and a banquet made an evening that lasted until morning.

Mr. L. C. Bartlett has had another bad spell and is very sick.

TWO MEN.

Slender necks have succeeded slender waists as emblems of feminine beauty in Africa. The people may infer from this that ultimately civilization will acquire this civilization from the most intelligent world. The women of the Ivory coast lengthen their necks by wearing iron rings. Every year they put a new ring around their necks, which they can stretch so far that it is nothing unusual to find it as long as the face.

ELMER C. BURKETT, UNITED STATES SENATOR FROM NEBRASKA

Washington, D. C., Feb. 21.—"Senator Burkett for vice-president," is the slogan of an ever-increasing number of supporters of Senator Burkett's vice-presidential hopes.

Senator Burkett is not worrying himself about his candidacy, and in fact, laughs at it. But he is pressed as highly available for many reasons. As a senator he is credited with a remarkably good record on the questions likely to be brought up in a presidential contest.

He is an excellent speaker, and Mark Hanna, who tried to break a deadlock in Nebraska by electing Burkett was only just past 30, declared the young man was the best natural born politician he had ever known, and given health and luck, would one day be president.

When Elmer J. Burkett came to congress from Nebraska he was a youth of barely 20 years. When he was elected to the senate he was by a long way the youngest member of that body—in fact, the youngest person who had sat in it for a good many years.

Then he was only 37 years old and

of Oklahoma at top, Senator Charles A. Fulton of Oregon at bottom.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—The Fulton brothers have a monopoly upon one brand of congressional fame which is absolutely original and unique. They are in different political parties and in different branches of the government at the same time.

Elmer L. Fulton is a member of the house of representatives from Oklahoma and is a Democrat. Charles A. Fulton is a senator from Oregon and a Republican.

Brothers have served in congress before. For instance, Charles B. Landis and Frederick Landis both brothers of Judge Kenesaw S. Landis of Chicago, represented districts in Indiana in the 56th congress, but they both belonged to the Republican party. Some years ago there were two brothers in the senate and one in the house, but they too, belonged to the same political party. The Fultons are the only brothers who ever came to congress together but divided against themselves politically. Senator Fulton was born in Lima, O. When he was 2 years old his parents moved to Marshall, Ia. Here Congressman Fulton was born. From Iowa the nonpareil family proceeded to Pawnee City, Neb., where the brothers studied and were admitted to the bar. Charles is in congress and was elected to a number of offices as a Republican. He came to Janesville to a woman living in Church street, Burlington, London. She went, and in her absence he broke into her house. He was sentenced to nine months' hard labor at Clerkenwell.

Thief's Clever Run Foiled.
"Come at once to the Great North-western hospital," said a telegram from George Malton to a woman living in Church street, Burlington, London. She went, and in her absence he broke into her house. He was sentenced to nine months' hard labor at Clerkenwell.

The Mystery

By Stewart Edward White and Samuel Hopkins Adams

ILLUSTRATED BY PARKER

In this fascinating sea tale of not one mystery but many the enchanted reader loses himself, a willing slave to the spell the gifted authors weave about him. As the Independent, that staunch religious publication of sound judgment, puts it, "the book stands the final test: it convinces the reader for the moment." It holds him, too. Forgetful of his surroundings, he will never be satisfied until the mystery is solved.
